Congratulations to Associate Hannah Fas who has been included as a finalist in the Intellectual Property category in the Lawyers Weekly 30 under 30 awards 2022.

With qualifications in both Law and Applied Science (Biotechnology), Hannah's STEM studies have enhanced her critical thinking, analysis and research skills which allow her to relate to her clients who appreciate her technical background and her ability to "speak their language".

Achieving 30 Under 30 status offers finalists and winners the foundation for career progression, with industry-wide recognition for professional competency all while highlighting a passion for the law and a great dedication for personal advancement.

Winners are announced on Friday, 3 June – good luck Hannah!

Please join us in congratulating Hannah on this exceptional achievement.
