HopgoodGanim Lawyers proudly announces its sponsorship of the International Academy of Family Lawyers (IAFL) Symposium: Introduction to International Family Law. The event will take place in Brisbane on Tuesday, 20 February 2024 and will feature presentations and discussions led by international family law practitioners, including representatives from India, the United States, Hong Kong, China, Japan, and Scotland.

The symposium, chaired by esteemed legal professionals including HopgoodGanim's Family and Relationship Law Partner and IAFL Asia-Pacific Chapter President, Geoff Wilson, alongside Jacky Campbell from Australia and Kai Yun Wong from Singapore, will address topics on international family law such as marriage and divorce, parenting matters, property and financial disputes, as well as emerging issues surrounding recognition of cohabitation unions, same-sex marriages, shared parenting, Hague Convention cases and property division.

"We believe in the power of knowledge-sharing and collaboration to drive positive change in family law practice globally," said Geoff. "This symposium provides an invaluable platform for legal professionals to exchange insights, address emerging challenges, and foster a deeper understanding of international family law issues."

Demonstrating its commitment to the legal professional and supporting the development of family law practices in Australia, HopgoodGanim's presence at the IAFL symposium will include a strong cohort of senior family law practitioners including Fraser Bax, Kathleen Coggins, Katharine Atkins, Isabella Windsor, and Hamish Mulcahy.

About the International Academy of Family Lawyers
